A LETTER FROM OUR CEO

More than 65 million Americans live with asthma and allergies. You probably know someone touched by these conditions. For some, asthma and allergies are life-threatening. As you read this Asthma and Allergy Foundation of America (AAFA) Annual Report, you will see how your support helps what we do.

When I joined AAFA in early 2018, I knew all too well the importance of AAFA’s work. Two of my sons have asthma and life-threatening food allergies. My family has experienced the challenges, fears, and unknowns of living with asthma and allergies – hospital visits, learning to study every ingredient label for allergens and knowing what could set off a potentially life-threatening allergic reaction.

I am grateful to be working with a group of dedicated staff, volunteers and supporters who are driven by helping others. Almost every day, our team hears about a tragic event caused by asthma or an allergic reaction. Ten people die each day in the U.S. from asthma. Food allergies result in 200,000 emergency department visits in the U.S. each year.

Thank you for your help as we try to eliminate these tragedies and improve the quality of life for those who struggle with asthma and allergies. We cannot do our important work without your support.

To your good health,

Kenneth Mendez
